following

REPORT

[To accompany H. R. 12261]

The Committee on the Library, to which was referred the bill (H. R. 12261) authorizing the appropriation of $5,000 for the erection of tablets or other form of memorials in the city of Quincy, Mass., in memory of John Adams and John Quincy Adams, has had it under consideration, and recommends that it pass.

John Adams, the second president of the United States, and his son, John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, are both buried in the city of Quincy. The houses in which they were born are preserved there as monuments. The tombs are in a church in the center of the city. The two houses, which stand on the same plot of ground, are in West Quincy, which was at the time they were born a part of Braintree.

It seems appropriate that the Federal Government should contribute the sum of $5,000 for the erection of tablets or other form of memorials in memory of these two Presidents. Such action is particularly appropriate at this time because the city of Quincy is celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of its settlement.

REPORT

(To accompany H. R. 1260)

The Committee on the Library, to which was referred the bill
H. R. 1260, authorizing the appropriation of $5,000 for the erection of tablets or other form of memorials in the city of Quincy, Mass., in memory of John Adams and John Quincy Adams, has the honor to report, and recommends that it pass.
John Adams, second president of the United States, and his son, John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, were both born in the city of Quincy. The houses in which they were born are preserved there as monuments. The roads are in a church in the city of Quincy. The two houses, which stand on the same plot of ground, were in West Quincy, which was at the time they were built, part of Boston.
It seems appropriate that the Federal Government should contribute the sum of $5,000 for the erection of tablets or other form of memorial in memory of these two Presidents. Such action is permanently approved by the House of Representatives, the only of Quincy is celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of its settlement.
